Acute Depression in Stocks Immediately Affected Was Caused by Selling.

LIQUIDATION IS FORCED

Premium on Currency is Maintained, and Call Money is Again Stiff:

NEW YORK. November 21.—Liquidalion of the same painful character as for several days past was still in evidence in the stock market to-day, and acute- depression in the stocks immediately affected was occasioned by this selling. The weakness did not embrace the list as a whole at any time, and the market showed some residency in the late dealings, which suggested a responsibility on the part of professional bears for part of the day's dealings.
Developments regarding the properties whose securities were being sold were, not the motives for the selling, so far as was known.

A process of cleaning up of credit acounts by the banks was believed to he in force and to involve new relations of strictness and imperviousness to influence and favors such as prominent capitalists of practically unbounded respurces have exacted from the hanks; Whatever the cause, the fact is patent that the forced diquidation of loans by the selling out of collateral in the stock market is now in progress from time to time.

The maintenance of the premium on ourrency, and a rise to above yesterday's figures was an unsatisfactory item of the day's news, and call money was stiff again, with the calling of loans in progress. This was rather vaguely ascribed to preparation for subscriptions to new Panama bonds and Treasury certificates, although no authentic details were to be learned as to the progress of the operations.

Total sales of stocks to-day, 543,200 searea.

been pending for several weeks.

Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity:

"Little change is noted in the wholesale dry goods and notion market since last week. Ordering generally is light, as is usual at this season. Manufacturers and wholesalers of shoes are receiving satisfactory orders for spring delivery. Dealers in holiday goods and toys continue active. There is less activity shown in groceries, producions and kindred lines. Retailers and general stores appear to be either curtailing or holding orders. Locally offerings of tobacco are small, but for such as has been marketed good prices have been received. The scarcity of currency continues to retard the marketing of cotton and other crops, much of which is still in the hands of the producer. This has had a deleterious effect upon retail trade and caused collections to be very slow at this time."
